Heinz Glas management decided not to have an official statement as there are so many and quick changes that we prefer to give the updates as soon as available.

At present the factory is running without any issues. We have taken a lot of action to prevent our people and to keep the factory running.

We have trucks available for deliveries, but they may be delayed at the border.

Since end of February we cancelled all visits/travelling at our customers and meeting from customers here in house.

The museum is closed as well.

If there are people that could likely have been in contact with a risk group or region, they are asked to do home office for 14 days.

As schools are closed in Germany, we have a lot of people sharing within the families to take care of the children, if possible, the people are working from home.

Due to all these precautions, we have taken we are fine here in our rural region.
